

GENERAL NURSE MIDWIFE

Common obligatory basic subjects of Category A

Latin language

The Annotation:

the subject provides knowledge of Latin grammar and professional terminology.

Information technology (IT)

The Annotation:

practical subject teaches user's access to computer technique.

Ethics

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge about ethics in nursing care, midwifery care and medicine.

Public health

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides knowledge about policy on care about health of people, prevention of disorders and primary care.

Anatomy

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and supposes application knowledge to next special subjects and to practice of midwives (general nurses).

Biophysics

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides basic knowledge about biophysics and her improvement in medicine.

Principles of genetics

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides basic knowledge about genetics and her improvement in medicine.

Communication

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides basic knowledge about communication in profession of midwife and general nurse.

Education to health

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge about basic ways out European policy on care about health of people and with national Programme of health.

Educational activity of midwives and nurses

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as practical and provides pieces of information and practical knowledge from didactics.

Hygiene

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides information about human organism in environment and about necessity of hygiene in profession of midwife and general nurse.

Nutrition

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides information about nutrition of men and about nutrition disorders.

Clinical propedeutics

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides information about condition of health of patient and modern diagnostic methods in medicine.

Biochemistry

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides information about biochemical homoeostasis (internal environment balance) of organism, his disorders and information about specimen (biological material) collection.

Physiology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and supposes application knowledge to next special subjects and to practice of midwives (general nurses). The subject provides information about basic functions of organs of human body.

Pathology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides information about pathological processes of human organism, his base forms knowledge from Anatomy and Physiology.

Pharmacology

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and relating to the action of drugs on the body on health and diseases and acquaints with a basic knowledge from clinical pharmacology.

Radiology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and acquaints with a basic knowledge from nuclear diagnostic, nuclear therapy, nuclear medicine and nuclear protect.

Microbiology, epidemiology, immunology

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and acquaints with a basic knowledge from morphology of non-pathogenic and pathogenic organisms and their influences of a human body.

Psychology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and acquaints with the content, methods and an aim of psychology with application knowledge to practice of midwives or general nurses.

Sociology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides information about sociology and sociological research.

Law and legislature

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides a general information about law and legislature of paramedics and patients.

Management

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and acquaints with a basic knowledge from the modern management in the sphere of sources and with the strategy of management of quality.

Economy

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and acquaints with a basic knowledge from economy and with the system of health insurance.