

GENERAL NURSE

Subjects of Category A

Nursing

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical formed as a study programme “Nursing as modern discipline” with its own terminology, classification, methodology, matter (object) of research, nursing models, value systems.

Nursing procedures

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as practical. The content of the subject establishes the principles of professional nursing skills.

Nursing care of Elderly Persons

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge of health, prevention of disorders and nursing care of ill elderly persons.

Nursing in primary care

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and information about primary care.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with disorders of respiratory tract

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of disorders of respiratory tract.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with disorders of heart and blood vessels

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of disorders of heart and blood vessels.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with disorders of the kidneys and urinary tract

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of disorders of the kidneys and urinary tract.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with mental disorders

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of mental disorders

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with disorders of the digestive tract

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of disorders of the digestive tract

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with the haematology or oncology disorder

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of the haematology or oncology disorder.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with endocrine disorder

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of endocrine disorder

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with gynaecology disorder

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of gynaecology disorder

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with nervous disorder

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of nervous disorder

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with motoric disorder

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the symptoms of motoric disorders

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients with infectious disorder or HIV

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about infectious disorder or HIV.

Internal and surgical nursing care of patients in the dental surgery, ophthalmology, otolaryngology (E.N.T.)

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about the patients with the dental surgery, ophthalmology, otolaryngology disorder, and about the special nursing care of these.

Nursing Scientific Research

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and supposes application in others nursing, humanities and behaviourist subjects

The emergent and critical conditions in nursing care

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about nursing care of the patients in emergent and critical conditions.

Paediatric Nursing

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge and special information about paediatric nursing.

Seminar for bachelor work

The Annotation:

The subject is intent on the methodology of bachelor work with the aim will have been teaching students of principles development.

Physiotherapy nursing (RHB)

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides knowledge, skills and special information about the principles of physiotherapy in nursing care.

The practical training and clinical seminars

1st year

winter half-year (semester)

This subject is oriented on mental health of client and is structured from 4 parts:

- Themes of mental health
- acquaint with preventative facilities
- acquaint with organization of public health
- primary care

Summer half-year

The practical training is oriented on speciality medical institution and is structured from 3 parts:

- acquaint with an institution consequential nursing care
- gerontology words – special nursing care and physiotherapy
- a disorders of mental health and specificity of primary care

The responsibilities:

- summer individual practical training (4 weeks)
- seminary work from nursing care

The practical training and clinical seminars

2nd year

Winter half-year (semester)

The practical training is oriented on the nursing process on speciality medical institution and is structured from 3 parts:

- a nursing process in the internal wards and his specificity
- a nursing process in the surgical wards and his specificity
- a nursing process in the paedopsychiatric wards and his specificity
- a nursing process in the gerontopsychiatric wards and his specificity

Summer half-year

- a nursing process in the internal wards
- a nursing process in the surgical wards
- a nursing process in the gynaecological wards

3rd year

Winter half-year (semester)

The practical training is oriented on the nursing process on speciality medical institution and is structured from 3 parts:

- a nursing process in the internal or oncological wards and his specificity
- a nursing process in the surgical wards and his specificity
- a nursing process in the paediatric wards and his specificity

Summer half-year

- acquaint with an institution of selected specialization
- Independently carry out a nursing process by the patients in the internal, surgical and psychiatrically wards
- a subject of public and community care

Subjects of Category B

English language

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and is concentrated on the particular language skills such as speaking, reading, listening and writing. The purpose of this module is to improve the ability to speak with patients and their relatives, with medical colleagues and paramedical staff. It is intended to develop both their speed and their accuracy in reading medical articles.

German language

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and is concentrated on the particular language skills such as speaking, reading, listening and writing. The purpose of this module is to improve the ability to speak with patients and their relatives, with medical colleagues and paramedical staff. It is intended to develop both their speed and their accuracy in reading medical articles.

Special pedagogy

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and is concentrated on the particular education's notions and principles.

Influence of work and working conditions on health

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and acquaints with a quality of working conditions and their influence on the health.

Occupational therapy

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides a basic knowledge from the occupational therapy and teach the evaluation and testing a self sufficiency and communication skills.

Information systems in nursing

The Annotation:

The informatics and computer technology has for the objective teach user's access to computer technique.

Nutrition disorders

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides a basic knowledge about nutrition disorders.

Multicultural nursing

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as practical and is the part of theoretical principles of nursing and acquaints with the need multicultural and individual nursing care.

Nursing in home care

The Annotation:

the subject is conceived as theoretical and provides the knowledge necessary for the work and communication with the client and his family in home care.

Palliative and hospice's care

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides the knowledge about palliative care mainly about the patient with the oncological disease and with the chronic pain.

Introduction to clinical psychology

The Annotation:

The subject is conceived as theoretical-practical and provides the knowledge about the clinical psychology.